Smaavna

= unite;

Chalut

= magic, uncanny event

Meaning: Oh my Satguru! Please visit me so I may listen to, and sing the praise of Waheguru in your holy company. Pause. With your visit, my mind and body both come alive because I sing Waheguru's praise in your company. With your grace, Waheguru's Naam takes abode in my heart and I lose all interest in the worldly attractions. With your kindness, the devotee's mind is enlightened and all the ailments due to evil thoughts are dispelled. Your holy sight purifies the mind of the devotee and his cycle of rebirth is broken. A devotee, who is liked by you, receives all treasures of the earth, all supernatural powers, and is successful in life (he no longer wishes for these mundane things). I have no place other than you to go to (for help of any kind) and cannot think of any such place. Nobody else can save me (from the effects of Maya) because I have no good qualities. Only in your company can I connect with Waheguru. (Guru) Nanak says and difficult moments.

Meaning: My mind is continuously connected with Waheguru. My Waheguru Friend is simply Great! He is my protector from beginning to the end. Pause. When you surrender to Him, He remembers His protective responsibility, and does not put you through difficult moments (your mind develops to the level where there is no discomfort). He provides His protective hand, and nourishes and nurtures you with every breath. When I see the wonders and the greatness of the Master, my mind feels highly blissful. You too, remember Him (recite His Name) and feel blissful, oh my friend! The kind Waheguru dignifies you.

It is Shabad by Kabir Sahib which emphasises the equality of all human beings.

Meaning: Hey folks! Don't be lost in false illusion; the Creator is present in His creation and the creation survives in Him. He is omnipresent. Pause. The greatest God created light from Himself, and all the human beings are created from that light. So, how can some of us be better and others worse when all of us are created equal from the same light!! Just like a potter who makes so many different kinds of pottery from the same dough of earth, The Creator has created so many different forms of human beings from the same starting material. Different forms of pottery do not imply that there is some defect in the dough or the potter himself. Similarly different appearances of human beings do not mean that the Creator made some kind of mistake when He created them. The same Creator is present in all of us and it is all His creation. The individual who recognizes this fact understands that it is God's will (command) to create humans of different appearances, and He is present in all of us. Only such an individual can be called a real devotee. God is indescribable and cannot be seen, but, the Guru has enlightened me and I find God's Naam very sweet like jaggery. Kabir (Sahib) says that all his doubts have been dispelled and now he sees God everywhere.

It is a beautiful Shabad by Bhagat Ravidass Ji, and shows his humility and his burning desire to see God (be one with Him).

Meaning: Oh God, dearer than my life! Please tell me the reason for which you are not talking to me? PAUSE. There is no doubt that no one is more helpless than me, and no one is kinder than you. So, why are you testing me? My mind acquires perfect peace to hear your Shabad (commandment). Please, let me get connected to you so that I may be a part of You who is Perfect in every which way. I have not seen you (not connected with you) for a very long time as I have been separated from you for a large number of lives (incarnations). Now I have dedicated this life entirely to you and am living with the hope that I will be able to see you (be one with you) someday in this life.

NOTE: In this holy Shabad Kabir Sahib questions the misguided beliefs and rituals of Muslim priests. Muslims wash their hands and face before the offer nivaaj, undertake a pilgrimage (Hajj) to Mecca and when there, they kill an animal like a goat, chicken or even a camel, to offer as sacrifice to Allah, and eat the meat themselves. Kabir Sahib points to the hollowness of such rituals because their minds are not pure.

They also engage in discussion with Hindus claiming that the contents of the Hindu holy books are false. Kabir Sahib also offers a good advice to both the parties.

Meaning: Hey Moolah! You engage in discussion with Hindus saying that their holy books contain lies, but rather than blaming the holy books of each other, blame yourselves because you do not ponder on them. On one hand, you preach that the same Allah is present in each living being while on the other, you kill an animal like a chicken, (which has Allah residing in it) to please Allah, how do you justify this? You preach Allah's justice to others, but you are gripped by misbeliefs. Pause.

You catch an animal, kill and destroy its body, and its soul goes to Allah. So, what did you make fit for Allah? Just the lifeless dirt?

What do you gain spiritually by washing your hands and face before offering nivaaj and what do you make holy by doing all this and even by going on Hajj to Mecca if your mind is impure and harbours evil ideas? You are impure and you never understood the secrets of the real pure Allah, oh Moolah! Kabir says that you have already missed the opportunity to go to heaven because your mind enjoys things that lead to hell.

In this beautiful Shabad, Guru Nanak Sahib disapproves a yogi's approach to connect to Waheguru, and teaches the real approach to do so. Enjoy this lovely Shabad.

Meaning: Hey Waheguru! Whereas a yogi uses intoxicants like marijuana with the misguided belief that it enhances his concentration to focus on his god's naam, Your respectful fear works as marijuana for me. And whereas a yogi stores his intoxicants in bag of hide, I use my memory as the bag to store Your fear. People may call me crazy, but concentrating on Your Naam with Your fear in my mind, I have become completely detached from the worldly attractions.

Yogis go from door to door with a bowl in their hand to beg for food or cash etc. but, I am hungry of Your holy sight and have made a bowl by joining my hands to beg at Your door all the time. The Yogis call out the name of their deity in a loud voice at every door when they go begging, but I call Your Naam and beg at Your door; please, give me the alms of Your sight. Pause.

The right to use nature's gifts like saffron, flowers, the hide of a deer or gold is not restricted to any particular individual, anybody can use them. Similar is the nature of Waheguru's light (soul) among His devotees; like the Chundan tree, they provide the fragrance of the Divine Knowledge to everybody. Nobody pays any attention to the shape or the material of the containers in which expensive things like butter oil or silk are stored; just like that, a Waheguru's devotee (who is spiritually an expensive item) can come from any caste – high or low. Guru Nanak says, I am a beggar (of Waheguru's Naam) at the door of such a bhagat who always kneels before Waheguru (accepts His will willingly) and is always absorbed in His Naam.

A person, who worships Shiva will at the most, ride an ox and rattle a hand-held drum just like Shiva.

Meaning: Ever since have I joined the company of the holy people, I have forgotten to depend on others. Pause. Now, nobody seems to be my enemy or a stranger, and I can live in harmony with everybody. Whatever Waheguru does now, I gladly accept this as to be beneficial to me. I have received this noble advice from the Guru. Now, I can see that the same Waheguru is present everywhere, and I feel blissful to watch His doings.
